Lifeboat Distribution Partners with Nexsan to Meet Customer Demands

New partnership will boost Lifeboat's data center offering while strengthening Nexsan's channel presence

EATONTOWN, N.J., July 24, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Lifeboat Distribution, a subsidiary of Wayside Technology Group, Inc. (NASDAQ:WSTG) and international value-added distributor focused on emerging technologies, announced today a new distribution agreement with Nexsan in North America. Nexsan's product portfolio is designed to offer customers highly available, reliable and secure storage to match individual business needs.

Lifeboat will sell Nexsan's E-Series, Beast, Unity, and Assureon products to offer a range of storage solutions that are purpose-built to suit specific customer requirements.

"The partnership with Nexsan allows Lifeboat to offer a solution that truly maintains the security and integrity of high volume storage," said Dale Foster, Executive Vice President of Lifeboat Distribution. "We look forward to introducing Nexsan to our channel partners as a great way to address some of their customers' data storage concerns."

Gregg Pugmire, Senior Vice President of Worldwide Sales and Marketing at Nexsan added, "Lifeboat is committed to delivering the best value in the market. The introduction of the Nexsan product line will enhance their product offering by providing highly reliable and secure storage solutions. Nexsan's portfolio is designed to enable customers to implement a solution which works for them, while combating today's growing concerns around cost, privacy and data protection."
