Non-GAAP Financial Measures

Disclosure in this release of "Adjusted EBITDA margin", which is a "non-GAAP financial measure" as defined under the rules of the Securities and Exchange Commission, is intended as a supplemental measure of our financial performance that is not required by, or presented in accordance with, U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP"). "Adjusted EBITDA margin" represents Adjusted EBITDA as a percentage of total revenue. "Adjusted EBITDA" represents net income before interest expense (net of interest income), income tax expense, depreciation and amortization expense, stock-based compensation expense, acquisition costs, costs associated with restructuring and other income/(charges), and costs associated with impairments and other charges.

We believe this non-GAAP financial measure is meaningful to our investors to enhance their understanding of our financial performance and are frequently used by securities analysts, investors and other interested parties to compare our performance with the performance of other companies that report Adjusted EBITDA margin. This non-GAAP measure should be considered in addition to, and not a substitute for, net income margin and other measures of financial performance reported in accordance with GAAP. Our calculation of Adjusted EBITDA margin may not be comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies.

We are unable to reconcile our target fiscal 2026 Adjusted EBITDA margin to the most directly comparable projected GAAP financial measure because certain information necessary to calculate such measures on a GAAP basis is unavailable or dependent on the timing of future events outside of our control. Therefore, because of the uncertainty and variability of the nature of and the amount of any potential applicable future adjustments, which could be significant, we are unable to provide a reconciliation for target fiscal 2026 Adjusted EBITDA margin without unreasonable effort.
