TO OUR STOCKHOLDERS, CUSTOMERS & EMPLOYEES

Mueller had an excellent year in 2005. Net sales totaled $1.73 billion, compared with $1.38 billion in 2004. Income from continuing operations in 2005 was $89.2 million, a twelve percent increase over the prior year.

The Company's earnings results for 2005 came after the absorption of approximately $18 million of pre-tax interest expense which was attributable to the Debentures issued in late 2004, as part of our $15.00 per share special dividend payout.

The growth in 2005 sales was largely due to the increase in the price of copper, our principal raw material. The average price of copper in 2005 was $1.68 per pound, or 30 percent higher than the 2004 average. We also experienced substantial increases in the costs of other raw materials as well as energy. Mueller makes every effort to incorporate these added costs, in a timely manner, into the price of our products, subject to competitive pressures. We were able to do so in 2005. In fact, in each quarter of 2005, we achieved improved results over the preceding quarter, and we entered 2006 in a sound operating position.

Financial Position

Mueller ended 2005 with almost $130 million in cash on hand, and a current ratio of 2.4 to 1. During the year, stockholder equity increased by over 20 percent, after the payment of our 40 cent per share annual dividend. And we generated $106 million of cash flow from operations during the year, despite additional funding of working capital due to rising raw material costs.

Virtually all of our long-term debt consists of the 6 percent Debenture we issued in late 2004. The Debentures, by their terms, mature in 2014 and are subordinated to bank borrowings and other designated senior indebtedness.

Currently, Mueller has access to $150 million of bank borrowings through a credit facility with a syndicate of commercial banks. We are not at this time utilizing this credit facility except for $12.7 million in letters of credit.

Operations Review

Late in 2005, we realigned our business units in order to achieve efficiencies, emphasize customer service and take full advantage of emerging opportunities. Our operating business units are now aggregated into two reporting segments, Plumbing & Refrigeration and OEM, as described below.

Plumbing & Refrigeration Segment

This segment is composed of: (1) The Standard Products Division which includes our core manufacturing businesses in North America; copper tube, copper and plastic fittings, and line sets; (2) Our Trading Group which consists of buy/sell businesses anchored by B&K. By combining B&K with our recent acquisitions in Mexico, we have achieved significant scale and market presence which should provide further opportunities for growth; and (3) Our European Operations which are composed of our copper tube mill in Bilston, England, and buy/sell trading activities that focus on the UK markets.

The Plumbing & Refrigeration segment had an excellent year in 2005 with particularly strong results in the fourth quarter. Much of this was attributable to our core product lines: copper tube, copper fittings, and plastic fittings. Also, acquired businesses contributed to the earnings gain as they met our expectations.

Our copper businesses were faced with steadily rising raw material costs; however, we were able to pass through these costs in a timely manner. Our plastic fittings business also produced outstanding returns on strong volume and spread. In the years ahead, we intend to expand the breadth of our plastic product lines.

Our Trading Group in North America will continue its focus on providing a broad range of products to our "Stockholder equity rose over 20% in 2005. Mueller generated $106 million of cash flow from operations in 2005 and ended the year with $130 million in cash on hand and a current ratio of 2.4 to 1."

retail and traditional wholesale customers. These products, such as valves, fittings, faucets, and plumbing specialties, meet high quality standards and represent good value to our customers. The growing reach of our world-wide sourcing activities should allow us to continue to deliver strong value and add new products.

OEM Segment

This segment includes: (1) Our Brass Rod Mill in Pt. Huron, Michigan, as well as our Forging, Impacts and Micro Gauge Machining operations; (2) Engineered Products which manufactures and fabricates valves and custom products for refrigeration, air-conditioning, and gas cooking applications; and (3) Our new joint venture in China. This joint venture produces engineered, inner grooved copper tube products which will be primarily sold to Chinese based air-conditioning manufacturers, and to other markets as well.

We believe that the market in Asia for air-conditioning products will continue to expand for the foreseeable future.

During 2005, the OEM segment posted improved results in all product areas with the exception of Brass Rod. Brass rod consumption in the United States has steadily declined over the past 5 years, due to the outsourcing of many manufactured products. Brass Rod continues to be a solidly profitable business, although a challenging one.

Business Outlook

Mueller's business is importantly linked to: (1) the construction of new homes; (2) the improvement and reconditioning of existing homes and structures; and (3) the commercial construction market which includes office buildings, factories, hotels, hospitals, etc.

For more than the past five years, the new housing and home improvement markets have been vibrant due to historically low mortgage rates and positive demographic factors. On the other hand, the commercial construction market has lagged behind.

Our outlook for 2006 assumes there will be a decline in new home construction due to rising mortgage rates coupled with higher home prices. However, new housing starts will likely remain at the high end of historical levels. Any decline in housing starts may very well be offset by the continued strength of the home improvement market and growth in the commercial construction sector. Should this scenario occur, Mueller will be well-positioned to benefit. Many of our better business opportunities lie in the commercial construction market. Overall, we believe 2006 will be another good year for our Company.

Closing

Late last year, Gregory L. Christopher, was appointed President of our Standard Products Division, which is our largest business.

At the same time, Peter D. Berkman, was named President of the Trading Group, which includes our buy/sell businesses in the U.S.A., Canada, Mexico and International Sales. We believe the buy/sell business will play an increasingly important role in Mueller's future.

Our congratulations go to both of these men. Our thanks also go to our management team and our employees who successfully navigated the economically challenging waters of 2005 with dedication and professionalism.

Very Truly Yours,

HARVEY L. KARP
