Westell Technologies, Inc. (NASDAQ:WSTL), a leading provider of broadband products, gateways and conferencing services, today announced consolidated revenue for the fiscal third quarter ended December 31, 2007 of $44.4 million and a net loss of $2.5 million or $0.04 per share. Customer Networking Equipment (CNE) revenue of $17.9 million for the fiscal third quarter compares to $32.2 million in the fiscal second quarter due primarily to the transitioning of providing modems under the BellSouth nine-state agreement, which concluded in October, to the new AT&T 22-state contract. Third quarter Outside Plant Systems (OSP), formerly called Network Service Access (NSA), equipment revenue declined to $13.5 million from $15.1 million in the fiscal second quarter. Conferencing Services revenue remained flat at $13.0 million quarter over quarter.

Other Activity

- Westell has received authority from its Board of Directors to begin exploring the strategic alternatives for ConferencePlus Inc., the services segment of the business. Management has retained the investment bank of Raymond James to assist them throughout this process.

- The Company received orders for Verizon's FiOS contract that represents a growth opportunity within Verizon's rollout of video services to large Multi-Dwelling Unit apartment complexes and high-rise buildings.
- The UltraLine(TM) Series3 residential gateway has been named an International CES Innovations 2008 Design and Engineering Award honoree by the Consumer Electronics Association (CEA).

Outlook

"We are pleased with the overall progress we have made towards the repositioning of our marketing strategy and remain confident in our overall growth objectives. We anticipate revenue will improve during the first half of fiscal 2009, as orders from the new 22-state AT&T contract and volume from Verizon FiOS are expected to commence in that timeframe," said Thomas Mader, Westell Chief Executive Officer. "We believe that the successful execution of our outsourcing strategy, along with our continuing efforts to develop innovative products, has positioned the company for long-term success. We are particularly pleased with the market traction of our UltraLine Series3 product portfolio with its WireSpeed(TM) routing performance for converged voice, data and video services over multiple media types such as Ethernet, coax and power line. The UltraLine Series3 is the perfect product for IPTV triple-play services. The recent selection for the Verizon FiOS network as well as an Innovations Award at CES are validation of our investments in this high-performance portfolio."

For the fourth quarter of fiscal 2008, Westell expects revenue to be in a range of $43 to $45 million. Westell expects EPS to be in a range of $0.03 to $0.04 loss per share.
