Apollo Names Leadership Group for Dedicated Impact Investing Platform

Marc Becker and Joanna Reiss Named Co-leads of Impact

Lisa Hall Appointed as Chair of Impact

NEW YORK, Sept. 15, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Apollo Global Management, Inc. (NYSE: APO) (together with its consolidated subsidiaries, "Apollo" or the "Firm") today announced the leadership team for Apollo Impact, a new platform dedicated to impact investing. Marc Becker, a Senior Partner and 24-year veteran of the Firm, will serve as Co-lead of Impact alongside Joanna Reiss, who will join Apollo as a Partner and Co-lead of Impact. Lisa Hall, a recognized impact investment leader, has been named Impact Chair, helping to develop and oversee the new platform.

The Apollo Impact platform will seek to build on the Firm's 30-year history of investing across industries historically aligned with the United Nations' sustainable development goals and a record of engagement on ESG issues that spans more than a decade. The Firm plans to focus its efforts in the following areas: Economic Opportunity; Education; Health, Safety & Wellness; Industry 4.0; and Resource Sustainability.

Apollo Co-President Scott Kleinman said: "At Apollo, we have long understood the financial and societal benefits of implementing ESG factors into our investment strategy and portfolio company reporting processes, and we're pleased to now build a platform focused squarely on investing in assets designed to positively impact the world. In addition to building on our institutional knowledge, we welcome Lisa and Joanna as part of the leadership group who, alongside Marc, will develop, oversee and implement the platform. As our Impact Chair, Lisa brings a quarter-century of experience focused on social impact, innovation and investment in a career that's spanned asset management, academia and policy work. Joanna will work closely with Marc, bringing her ESG and mid-market private-equity investing experience to build a leading Impact platform."

In addition to the Chair and Co-leads, the Impact platform will have a dedicated team of Apollo veterans as well as new hires, guided by a collective interest in establishing Apollo as a leader in private equity impact investing. Justin Stevens, a Senior Partner at Apollo, will serve as COO of the platform, focused on growth and development.

"After nearly 25 years with Apollo, having helped the Firm emerge as a leader in the private equity sector, I am excited to help spearhead Apollo's effort to do the same in the Impact industry. Our LPs care about the effects of their investments and we look forward to helping build this new platform that seeks to improve societal issues and maximize positive impact," said Marc Becker, Senior Partner and Co-lead of Impact.

Joanna Reiss, Apollo Partner and Co-lead of Impact, said: "Impact investing will be an important growth engine for the economy, and Apollo's decades of experience in acquiring and managing businesses is an unparalleled platform from which to make impact-oriented investments, help these businesses to grow and ultimately drive measurable impact with strong financial returns. I am honored to join Marc, Lisa and the entire team at Apollo on this mission.”

Commenting on her role as Chair, Hall said: “I am thrilled to join Apollo given the opportunity to leverage the firm’s scale, private equity expertise, and expansive network in forming its new Impact platform. Apollo has the power, ingenuity and imagination to allocate to businesses that have the potential to make an incredible impact on our society, and I look forward to working with my colleagues to position our efforts for success.”
