Media Covers Wrap Technologies' Non-Lethal BolaWrap in Springfield, Missouri

LAS VEGAS, NV / ACCESSWIRE / July 25, 2018 Wrap Technologies, Inc. (OTCQB: WRTC), an innovator of modern policing solutions, today provided a link to media reporting on yesterday's BolaWrap 100 demonstration sponsored by Springfield, Missouri Police Department. The BolaWrap non-lethal restraint product demonstration was attended by approximately 20 officers from 3 local agencies.

Reporter Linda Russell of KY3 TV (Springfield, Missouri) narrated the coverage on the BolaWrap non-lethal product. The full report entitled "Company demonstrates new non-lethal weapon for police in Springfield" is on the station's website.

"Looking at ways to give officers another tool before having to resort to that last resort sometimes if someone has a weapon or attacks an officer, where they have to shoot them and potentially kill them and we have had that happen here as well," said Chief Paul Williams of the Springfield, MO Police Department in the report. BolaWrap is designed as an early engagement tool to de-escalate encounters especially with those in mental crisis.

"We continue to see tremendous cooperation between agencies and local stakeholders including media as they evaluate our solution," said David Norris, President of Wrap Technologies. "The benefits of early remote restraint are being appreciated by those answerable for reducing incidents of injurious force."
