CTD Holdings, Inc. - NanoSonic Products Division Signs Manufacturing Agreement With Florida Biologix

ALACHUA, Fla., Feb. 22, 2012 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- NanoSonic Products, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of CTD Holdings, Inc. (OTCQB:CTDH), announced that the Company has signed a manufacturing agreement with Florida Biologix for the production of the sterile liquid form of its Trappsol Cyclo product, an orphan drug-designated treatment for Niemann Pick Type-C disease, also known as Childhood Alzheimer's, which affects children and adults and manifests with progressive neurological symptoms. Trappsol Cyclo is currently being administered in the U.S. under a compassionate use IND.

"Manufacturing of the liquid form of our Trappsol Cyclo is the first step in our stability testing project for this product," stated NanoSonic Products President and CEO, Dr. Jeffrey Tate, "Obtaining stability data for this form of our product is a top priority, and the opportunity to work with Florida Biologix's manufacturing experts will move it forward quickly."

Trappsol Cyclo is the world's only API-grade cyclodextrin product. As it develops, it will be the lead product for Sphingo Biotechnology, Inc. another wholly owned division of CTD Holdings, Inc. exclusively focused on the development of API-grade cyclodextrins as treatments for disease.
