FAIRFAX, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--

ExxonMobil is making NASCAR dreams come true this season by giving ordinary fans the chance to join the year's top drivers in New York City for the 2007 NEXTEL Cup Series Champions Week.

ExxonMobil has launched the "Mobil NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series(TM) Champions Week Game," a consumer promotion in which the grand prize is a trip for two to the 2007 NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series Champions Week activities, a prize valued at approximately $10,000.

Consumers have two ways to enter the Sweepstakes:

- Between April 15 and August 31, 2007, NASCAR fans can obtain a game code under each cap of specially marked quart bottles of Mobil Clean 5000, Mobil Clean 7500 and Mobil Clean High Mileage motor oils. Participants can then enter the code online at www.mobiloil.com to learn if they have won one of thousands of exclusive prizes. They will also automatically be entered into the grand prize drawing.
- Consumers may mail a hand-written 3x5 index card with their name, address, city, state, Zip code, date of birth and e-mail address to: Mobil - NASCAR NEXTEL Cup Series(TM) Champions Week Free Game Piece Request, P.O. Box 1149, Grand Rapids, MN 55745-1149. Six free game codes will be sent to the e-mail address, and the game codes may be used to enter the Sweepstakes at www.mobiloil.com. Game-code requests must be received between April 15 and August 24, 2007.

In addition to the grand prize, participants have the chance to win many other prizes, which include an official autographed Ryan Newman helmet and racecar hood, NASCAR-licensed replica die-cast cars, and other NASCAR licensed memorabilia.

Mobil High Endurance Motor Oils, the official lubricants of NASCAR, are designed to provide protection for the longer oil change intervals being experienced by many of today's drivers, and as recommended by many automobile manufacturers.
