Newburyport Mayor Holaday, School Officials to join with Ameresco to Commemorate Newburyport-based Solar PV Project with Donation

Ameresco, Inc.

What: Mayor Donna Holaday will join with school officials and executives from Ameresco, Munro Solar, and Canadian Solar to commemorate Nock Middle School's solar PV project with a $1,500 donation. The project, one of the largest municipal solar photovoltaic installations in the Commonwealth, produces 502 kW of clean, renewable electricity. Recently, the Ameresco project was nominated for and received an award as part of the "Win with Canadian Solar" contest, available to companies that have completed installations that use Canadian Solar's modules. As part of the prize, Ameresco was awarded $500 from Canadian Solar for its work at the Nock Middle School, which Ameresco will donate to the City of Newburyport. Additionally, Ameresco and Munro Solar, a subcontracting partner on the project, will each donate an additional $500, bringing the total donation to $1,500.

Who: Speakers include:

- Mayor Donna Holaday
- Nock Middle School Principal Barry Hopping
- Jim Walker, Director of Solar PV Grid Projects, Ameresco
- Alan King, Vice President of Sales, Canadian Solar (USA) Inc.
- Glenn Maltais, Vice President of Marketing, Munro Solar

When: Monday, December 13 at 11:30am

Where: Nock Middle School Library
70 Low Street
Newburyport, MA 01950
