Volato Appoints Industry Veteran Mark Ozenick to Lead Aircraft Management Business Growth

ATLANTA--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Volato Group, Inc. (NYSE American: SOAR) ("Volato"), a leading private aviation company and the largest HondaJet operator in the United States, today announced the appointment of business aviation veteran, Mark Ozenick, as President of Volato Aircraft Management Services (VAMS), a division of Volato. Ozenick will spearhead the growth and expansion of the company's aircraft management business.

"We are thrilled to welcome Mark to lead the expansion of Volato's aircraft management business," said Matt Liotta, CEO of Volato. "Mark's unmatched leadership, dedication to safety, customer-centric approach, and sharp business acumen make him an invaluable addition to our senior management team. I look forward to working with him to scale our already successful aircraft management business."

Ozenick brings over 45 years of business aviation experience, with expertise in flight operations, maintenance, and executive leadership. He has a proven track record of success, having previously led several Part 135 business aviation operating companies, where he improved processes and procedures with a focus on safety, service, and shareholder value.

"Volato has established a unique and compelling business model that delivers exceptional service, safety, and products to its clients," said Ozenick. "Aircraft management is a crucial component of that model and a key differentiator in the market. I look forward to building upon this strong foundation and driving further growth."

Ozenick is the founder of HeliFlite, the nation's leading provider of regional helicopter services. He has served as a trusted advisor on aviation matters to major airlines including American Airlines, Delta Airlines, and JSX, as well as private equity organizations and family offices. His experience includes a successful tenure as President of Dassault Falcon Jet's MRO network in North and South America. Additionally, Ozenick is a board advisor to Transcend Air, and was recently appointed Vice Chairman of Infrastructure for the State of Texas' Advanced Urban Air Mobility Council. His involvement in these organizations underscores his dedication to advancing the field of aviation.
