Inpixon Mapping Selected by Leading Pharmaceutical Corporation to Facilitate Tracking of COVID-19 Vaccine-Related Assets

PALO ALTO, Calif., Nov. 18, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Inpixon (Nasdaq: INPX), the Indoor Intelligence™ company, today announced that Inpixon Mapping has been selected by one of the world's premier pharmaceutical companies to provide the visualization required for tracking its critical COVID-19 vaccine-related assets. Inpixon Mapping is currently contracted for deployment in multiple facilities utilized by this company, which specializes in the development of medicines and vaccines across a wide range of disciplines, and multiple additional locations are anticipated to be added over the coming weeks and months.

Inpixon Mapping will be used to view the location of tagged assets on a dynamic, multi-layered map in near real-time within this pharmaceutical company's facilities. The terms of the customer agreement include both one-time professional services revenue, as well as recurring revenue associated with the mapping platform license.

Nadir Ali, CEO of Inpixon, commented, "We are proud that our mapping platform was selected by this leading pharmaceutical company to provide the visualization required for tracking vital assets as part of the effort to combat the COVID-19 pandemic. This most recent contract serves as a prime illustration of how our technology can assist in addressing critical supply chain requirements.

"Our Indoor Intelligence solutions continue to attract the attention of leading organizations, and we are rolling out our solutions in some of the most recognized companies in the world. We appreciate the trust and confidence each of these companies has placed in our technology and our team. Of particular note, the opportunity to provide our mapping solution for this pharmaceutical company's COVID-19 vaccine-related work, which is so critically important to all our lives and to help eradicate the pandemic, is a great honor for our company."
