The corrected release reads:

MICROVISION TO RECEIVE UP TO $34 MILLION IN PROCEEDS FROM THE CALL OF PUBLIC WARRANTS

Microvision, Inc. (NASDAQ:MVIS), a global leader in innovative ultra-miniature projection display and image capture products for mobility applications, announced today it has exercised its right to call its publicly traded warrants (NASDAQ:MVISW). The public warrants were issued in connection with the company's June 2006 financing transaction and allow the company to redeem the warrants if the Nasdaq closing bid prices of the company's common stock averages at least $5.304 over any 20 consecutive trading days ending after June 4, 2007. The company will receive $34.2 million in proceeds if all 12.9 million public warrants are exercised.

"We believe this important and tangible event is a direct tribute to the progress we made last year in reinventing the Company and positioning it on the path to long-term growth," stated Alexander Tokman, President and CEO of Microvision. "Our new business strategy and operating mechanisms centered around the development and commercialization of the high volume products based on the PicoP(TM) platform, our new execution standards, and the improved financial condition we believe have resonated well with our customers and shareholders over the past 12 months. The cash inflow we receive from the exercise of the public warrants will allow us to stay focused on our primary goal of accelerating the path to market for high volume consumer and automotive products."

Warrant holders have the right to exercise their warrants prior to the end of the notice period on July 6, 2007. Any warrants that remain unexercised as of July 6, 2007 will terminate and permanently cease to be exercisable. Exercise of the warrants may be effected in accordance with the warrant agreement governing the warrant only by surrender of a warrant certificate and delivery of other required documents and upon payment of the aggregate exercise price in cash, certified check or bank draft payable to the order of Microvision delivered to American Stock Transfer and Trust, the Warrant Agent. Warrant holders can contact American Stock Transfer and Trust Shareholder Services at 1-800-937-5449 with questions regarding the warrant exercise procedure.
