Major U.S. Aerospace Defense Contractor Selects NetSol's smartOCI Search Engine for eProcurement Solution

CALABASAS, Calif., Aug. 23, 2011 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- NetSol Technologies, Inc. (Nasdaq:NTWK), a worldwide provider of global IT and enterprise application solutions, today announced that a major U.S. aerospace defense contractor has signed an agreement to implement NetSol's smartOCI search engine software in its SAP eProcurement environment. Contract terms were not disclosed for competitive reasons.

"Our smartOCI product continues to provide an important solution for companies seeking a one-stop shop when searching catalogs across their contracted supplier base," said Najeeb Ghauri, chairman and CEO of NetSol. "Developing software that helps companies streamline their business processes in this economy is of strong importance and we believe smartOCI fulfills that need.

"We have built a sizeable pipeline with the smartOCI product and are optimistic about its short and long term market opportunities," Ghauri added.

NetSol's smartOCI product is designed to facilitate the B2B procurement process by providing companies with a powerful e-commerce search engine that improves purchasing efficiencies. The software allows companies to access their global suppliers and retrieve competitive pricing information to meet their purchasing requirements, as well as collaborate with their suppliers to exchange and publish catalog content.
