Blink Charging Named to Forbes' List of America's Best Small Companies

- Blink's share price experienced the second highest growth among the 100 High Performance Companies

Miami Beach, FL, Jan. 06, 2021 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Blink Charging Co. (NASDAQ: BLNK, BLNKW) ("Blink" or the "Company"), a leading owner and operator of electric vehicle (EV) charging equipment and services, announced today that Forbes included the Company on its List of America's Best Small Companies. The list can be accessed online at: <https://www.forbes.com/lists/best-small-cap-companies/#77d93e9647db>.

"We are honored to have been included on Forbes' List of America's Best Small-Cap Companies. All of us at Blink are intently focused on leveraging the opportunities we see to bring accessible and convenient high-speed chargers to the marketplace as EV use continues to grow. It is exciting to be recognized by Forbes, and our inclusion on this list is a testament to the hard work of our employees across our entire organization," commented Michael D. Farkas, Founder and Chief Executive Officer of Blink.

While compiling its America's Best Small-Cap Companies List, Forbes used FactSet data and screened for companies with a market value between $300 million and $2 billion, positive sales growth over the past 12 months, and a share price of at least $5. Excluded from the list were financial institutions, REITs, utilities, limited partnerships, and companies that have been public for less than one year. The rankings were based on earnings and sales growth for the last 12 months and over five years, one-year and 5-year return on equity and 52-week total return. Forbes more heavily weighted the latest-12 month and 1-year data in the rankings. The data was last updated on November 25, 2020.
