Wrap Technologies' BolaWrap Demonstrated in Canada for the First Time

BolaWrap Receives International and National News Coverage including BBC World News, CNN, CBS, USA Today, and Business Insider

TEMPE, Arizona, Dec. 9, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Wrap Technologies, Inc. (the "Company" or "Wrap") (Nasdaq: WRTC), an innovator of modern policing solutions, demonstrated the BolaWrap in Canada on December 5, 2019 to local law enforcement agencies. Wrap Technologies President Tom Smith conducted the demonstration, which was covered by the Winnipeg Free Press.

"We are excited to be able to bring the BolaWrap to Canada," said Smith. "Agencies are all facing similar problems around the world: how do you de-escalate a situation and not hurt somebody?"

"Canada embraces technology and is looking for solutions for law enforcement to de-escalate situations involving persons in crisis. The BolaWrap does not require pain-compliance and can end many potentially dangerous encounters prior to them requiring a higher level of force."

The Company is currently working with 16 exclusive international distributors covering 26 countries and has delivered product to 17 countries thus far.

The Company received major international and national media attention last week following Los Angeles Police Department's recent decision to train several hundred of their officers on the BolaWrap.

The BolaWrap was discussed across television, radio, online, social media, and print with translations across the US, Canada, Russia, China, Turkey, Great Britain, the Netherlands, Norway, Greece, Italy, Mexico, Iran, United Arab Emirates, Israel, Armenia, Egypt, Venezuela, Uruguay, South Korea, Taiwan, Vietnam, France, Indonesia, Japan, Slovenia and other countries.
