PALO ALTO, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Hercules Capital, Inc. (NYSE: HTGC) (“Hercules” or the “Company”), the leading and largest specialty finance company specifically focused on providing growth capital to some of the most innovative and disruptive venture capital backed growth companies in the U.S., many of which are pre-IPO and M&A stage companies backed by some of the leading top tier venture capital firms, today provided an intra-quarter business update for the second quarter and year-to-date outlook for 2018.

“We are off to a tremendous start for 2018 and well positioned to achieve another record year with nearly $580 million in closed new debt and equity commitments to date,” stated Manuel A. Henriquez, founder, chairman and chief executive officer of Hercules. “Our momentum and pace of new loan originations from the first quarter has both continued and accelerated, as evidenced by our strong new commitment activities already realized during second quarter-to-date, and further exemplifies our industry leadership as well as strong brand, reputation and scale of the Hercules platform within the venture capital and private equity community. Although we remain guardedly optimistic, we are nonetheless witnessing unprecedented loan demand, as evidenced with our closed and pending commitments of nearly $725 million in just the first five months of the year, putting us on pace to originate and close over $1.0 billion in new commitments for the full year. To meet this demand, we are continuing to actively manage our liquidity by opportunistically accessing both the debt and equity capital markets to fund this demand and growth. We will also, of course, be actively monitoring for critical changes in macro-economic conditions or geopolitical developments, including the administration’s new fiscal and trade policies and the impact of the mid-term elections.”
