Flux Power combines the benefits of lithium-ion with Flux's patented Battery Management System (BMS) and in-house engineering with product design culminating in new state-of-the-art batteries for a variety of industrial applications, including Class 3 'Walkie' trucks and larger lift equipment.

Flux Power's lithium-ion "LiFT Pack" battery technology provides an enormous opportunity to optimize supply chains by enhancing productivity, providing faster charging, longer operating times and eliminating battery maintenance while also reducing fixed costs, relative to incumbent lead-acid battery power. Current customers include a wide base of commercial users including those in the food handling, grocery and beverage industries that use a variety of forklift sizes in everyday operations.

An estimated 150,000 Class 3 electric 'Walkie' pallet jacks are currently in use in North America, mostly powered today by traditional lead-acid batteries. In addition, the Class 1 and 2 forklift market provides an added future market opportunity for Flux of well more than $1 billion, based on an estimated new 60,000 Class 1 and 2 forklifts sold annually.

A live audio webcast of the presentation may be accessed at <http://fluxpwr.investorroom.com/events>. An archive of the broadcast will be available on the company's website for 90 days.

The webcast replay will remain accessible via the conference event page at: www.gointellisight.org. Please register at least 5 minutes prior to the start of the presentation to ensure timely access.
