Recognition highlights Skillsoft’s approach to building AI literacy through blended, interactive learning experiences

BOSTON--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Skillsoft (NYSE: SKIL), a leading platform for transformative learning experiences, today announced that it has been recognized as “Most Dedicated to Employee Growth” in this year’s Digiday WorkLife Awards. This prestigious award highlights Skillsoft's commitment to employee development and career growth, with a particular focus on helping its workforce build artificial intelligence (AI) literacy to better understand, evaluate, and use AI technologies. Notably, this comes on the heels of the company being named to Built In’s 2025 Best Places to Work list in the “100 Best Large Companies to Work For” and “100 Best Remote Companies to Work For” categories.

According to WorkLife, “this year’s winners embody a transformative approach to the workplace, showcasing cultures prioritizing growth, creativity and well-being. They embrace emerging technologies to drive innovation while fostering flexible, inclusive ecosystems through remote-first and hybrid models. Empathetic leadership shines through initiatives supporting personal and professional development, creating meaningful impacts on employees’ lives.”

Skillsoft’s mission is to help organizations build a highly skilled and adaptable workforce, and the company takes this same approach with its own employees through a comprehensive talent development strategy. A key differentiator lies in its personalized, blended learning program - comprising on-demand courses, instructor-led training (ILT), role-based career pathways, and interactive simulations via its AI-powered coach, Skillsoft CAISY™ - that is designed to help all employees build a holistic skillset.

"Preparing the workforce for the challenges of tomorrow is integral to Skillsoft's mission. At the end of the day, we are only as good as our people and we are committed to empowering every Skillsoft employee to thrive personally and professionally through the power of learning," said Ciara Harrington, Chief People Officer, Skillsoft.
