Ameresco was selected due to its demonstrated excellence in the energy services space, particularly as it relates to customer impact and visionary transformation and performance. As a long-term trusted energy partner for organizations across North America, Ameresco has leveraged its two decades of experience to deliver over $13 billion in projects for governmental, utility, institutional, commercial, and industrial customers. Ameresco's strong financial performance, coupled with its customer-centric approach and significant growth potential, led to its selection for this recognition.

"At Ameresco, our vision is to energize a sustainable world by helping our clients achieve their energy efficiency and sustainability goals. We are honored and humbled to be recognized by Frost & Sullivan with the Best Practices Award for our commitment to this vision through innovation and excellence in the energy industry," said George Sakellaris, President and CEO of Ameresco. "This recognition is a testament to the hard work and dedication of our team, and we are grateful to have such a talented group of professionals driving our mission forward. Thank you to Frost & Sullivan for this recognition, and we look forward to continuing to push the boundaries of what's possible in clean energy."

Frost & Sullivan utilizes a rigorous analytical process to judge nominees across award categories to determine the final award recipient. Recipients are selected based on demonstration of best practices across criteria, such as addressing unmet customer needs, making sure to focus on leadership, and working to upgrade their financial performance.

"This year's recipient of the North American Energy Services Company of the Year Award has shown to be a role model and leading cleantech provider within the industry," said Maria Benintende, Industry Director, Energy & Environment Frost & Sullivan. "We are thrilled to honor Ameresco with this award for the company's commitment to developing and implementing comprehensive solution sets that enable a more sustainable future."

The Frost & Sullivan 2023 North American Energy Services Company of the Year Award was awarded to Ameresco in April 2023.
