Ingram Micro Appoints Seasoned Financial Executive Gina Mastantuono As Executive Vice President Of Finance

SANTA ANA, Calif., April 17, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- Ingram Micro Inc. (NYSE: IM), the world's largest wholesale technology distributor and a global leader in IT supply-chain, mobile device lifecycle services and logistics solutions, today announced the appointment of Gina Mastantuono as executive vice president of finance. In her new role, Mastantuono is responsible for financial planning, analysis, controllership, SEC reporting, treasury and tax. She reports directly to Bill Humes, chief operating and financial officer, Ingram Micro Inc.

Prior to joining Ingram Micro, Mastantuono was with NYSE-listed Revlon Inc. for six years, serving most recently as senior vice president, chief accounting officer, controller and international chief financial officer, where she was responsible for managing all aspects of external reporting, financial planning and analysis, corporate accounting and international finance, and was a key contributor in the area of corporate finance. Before Revlon, she held various finance executive roles, including four years with InterActiveCorp., a $6 billion, publicly traded operator of a diversified portfolio of specialized and global brands, and four years with Triarc Companies, Inc., a consumer products company with holdings that have included Snapple, RC Cola and Arby's. Her career began at Ernst & Young, LLP in New York, where she was a manager in the entrepreneurial services group. Mastantuono is a Certified Public Accountant and has 21 years of finance experience.

Mastantuono attended the State University of New York, where she earned a bachelor's of science degree in accounting and business administration.

"Gina is an experienced, motivated and exceptional financial executive and we are fortunate to have her join the Ingram Micro team," said Humes. "Her extensive background in financial planning and analysis, corporate accounting and international finance will help us as we strive to drive growth and greater returns across all of our business lines."
