Bioptix Announces Special Cash Dividend

CASTLE ROCK, Colo., Oct. 3, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Bioptix, Inc (NASDAQ: BIOP) (the "Company"), announced today that its Board of Directors has authorized a special dividend of approximately $1.00 per common share (including common share equivalents) in cash, payable on or about October 18, 2017 to shareholders of record as of October 13, 2017.

Michael Beeghley, the Company's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, commented, "This special dividend is a positive step to return value to all Bioptix shareholders. We continue to explore options for delivering additional value to shareholders with our streamlined overhead and cash position."

The exact dividend total amount is subject to final calculation. Shareholders do not need to take any action to receive the dividend. Shares held in street name should receive the dividend by credit to their brokerage accounts and shares held by shareholders of record will receive a check. Equity Stock Transfer has been appointed paying agent for administration of the dividend and any questions should be directed to them at 212.575.5757 or info@equitystock.com.

About Bioptix

The Company holds an exclusive license from the University of Washington in St. Louis ("UW") focusing on animal healthcare and owns important intellectual property rights related to veterinary products and has granted a license relating to single chain reproductive hormone technology for use in non-human mammals which is under active development by the licensee (bovine rFSH). The Company had been involved in developing blood-based testing for diagnosis and treatment of acute appendicitis until a negative response from the FDA in 2015. The Company acquired BiOptix Diagnostics, Inc in 2016 and following a decision in 2017 to exit that business has been reviewing possible strategic alternatives for that business, including a possible sale. The Company has been reviewing other strategic alternatives, including shifting its focus to new technologies in unrelated markets.
