Richard MacPherson commented: "The Planet MicroCap Showcase is timely, and I look forward to presenting during this exciting early growth phase for Birchtech's strategic milestones. With the recent launch of our water purification division and strong momentum in our air business – which remains on track to generate at least $23 million in revenue in 2025 – we believe we are laying the foundation for long-term value creation. Early commercial activity in our water business, anticipated to begin mid-2025, is expected to add meaningful upside to our revenue profile. We remain committed to keeping open dialogues with investors and plan to discuss our strategy, execution, and path forward at the Planet MicroCap Showcase in Las Vegas."

Registration is required for conference participation. For more information or to schedule a meeting with management, please contact MZ Group at BCHT@mzgroup.us.
