“Our newest integration with Dolphin Cloud helps solidify our dominance as the preferred patient engagement platform for dentists,” said Branden Neish, Chief Product Officer of Weave. “Because of this integration, we are able to provide the most effective and powerful Weave experience to more dental offices than ever before. We are incredibly excited about this integration and expect more to come soon.”

Dental offices are busier than ever and have not been immune to the recent staffing shortage. This integration provides offices with the tools to save time by automating essential revenue-generating tasks like appointment reminders and review text messages. Recent studies have shown that offices that can take advantage of Weave’s automated appointment reminders are able to free up to 3 hours a week that they can spend elsewhere.

“We are so excited for this integration with Weave, which streamlines the workflow for Dolphin Cloud users,” said Chester Wang, President of Dolphin. “This partnership perpetuates our focus to empower our customers in providing remarkable experiences for their patients, while also efficiently growing their practices.”

This integration builds on core Weave features like two-way texting, VoIP, and Team Chat by syncing both softwares together regularly throughout the day. This sync also allows offices to take advantage of other enhanced Weave products.
