Evolv Express® Awarded 2024 Secure Campus Award

WALTHAM, Mass.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Evolv Express® has been selected as the platinum winner of the 2024 Secure Campus Award for screening equipment by Campus Security Today, an industry-leading print and digital publication focused on safety and security on school, college, security and healthcare campuses. Evolv Technology (NASDAQ: EVLV) is a leader in AI-based weapons detection security screening and has partnered with over 750 customers worldwide to provide an added layer of safety with its advanced weapons detection solutions, including over 800 schools in the U.S.

Evolv Express uses advanced sensor technology and AI to tell the difference between certain potential threats and many commonly carried objects. Evolv Express helps enable a quick and unobtrusive entry process, helping allow people to move through security screening at a brisk pace without having to always empty their pockets or be subject to bag checks.

Designed to honor the outstanding achievements of security industry manufacturers whose products are considered particularly noteworthy in their ability to improve campus security, the Secure Campus Awards are chosen by a panel of judges selected from the industry by the editorial staff of Campus Security Today. Winning companies are selected for products that help keep education and business campuses safer.

Evolv's technology helps secure leading stadiums, arenas, theme parks, performing arts centers, casinos, places of worship and hundreds of schools and hospitals across the U.S. The company's security technology has screened more than 1 billion people since 2019.
