EyeGate Files IDE with FDA for PRK Pivotal Study

WALTHAM, MA / ACCESSWIRE / May 2, 2019 /EyeGate Pharmaceuticals, Inc. (NASDAQ: EYEG) ("EyeGate" or "the Company") announced today it has successfully submitted the Investigational Device Exemption ("IDE") to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ("FDA") regarding its photorefractive keratectomy ("PRK") pivotal study. The review process takes 30 days, at which point the FDA will allow the Company to initiate enrollment or will provide comments to be addressed.

Stephen From, CEO of EyeGate, said, "Following the strength of our data in the PRK pilot study, the FDA recommended that we are ready to commence a pivotal study, which if successful, will allow us to file a de novo submission. As we wait to hear back from the FDA, we will continue with the initiation of our pivotal study."

About EyeGate

EyeGate is a clinical-stage specialty pharmaceutical company focused on developing and commercializing products using its two proprietary platform technologies for treating diseases and disorders of the eye.

EyeGate's OBG platform is based on a crosslinked thiolated carboxymethyl hyaluronic acid ("CMHA-S"), a modified form of the natural polymer hyaluronic acid, which is a gel that possesses unique physical and chemical properties such as hydrating and healing when applied to the ocular surface. The ability of CMHA-S to adhere longer to the ocular surface, resist degradation and protect the ocular surface makes it well-suited for treating various ocular surface injuries including surgical trauma.

EGP-437, EyeGate's other product in clinical trials, incorporates a reformulated topically active corticosteroid, Dexamethasone Phosphate that is delivered into the ocular tissues through EyeGate's proprietary innovative drug delivery system, the EyeGate II Delivery System.
