

WiSA Membership Grows to Over 70 Brands

WiSA Membership continues steady growth as more consumer electronic manufacturers adopt the multichannel wireless audio technology as an industry standard

SAN JOSE, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- WiSA® LLC, the Wireless Speaker and Audio Association comprised of leading consumer electronics brands and founded by Summit Wireless Technologies (NASDAQ: WISA), today announced its brand membership roster has topped 70 brands as 2020 comes to a close.

“We are very happy to see the continued growth we have experienced over the last several months,” said Tony Ostrom, president of WiSA. “The movement is expanding and we are seeing more brands join with a plan to bring new and innovative home cinema audio solutions to fruition. We are looking forward to several great new product announcements over the coming months.”

Among the latest to join the WiSA fold are TV manufacturers Hisense and Toshiba and audio brands Kef, Alpine/Alps, Richsound, Veddan, Parsound and EasyTop. These new members add diverse product capabilities to the already strong roster of WiSA members. In many cases, new Association members are actively developing audio and visual solutions for launch in 2021, which will add to the growing number of solutions already available as well as new products that will be introduced by existing WiSA members.

In 2021, WiSA expects to see strong growth in the number of WiSA Certified speaker models available, which will be ready to easily connect to 100s of millions of smart TVs via wireless audio transmitters. Most notably is the recent launch of the WiSA SoundSend audio transmitter, the Association’s first branded product, that will be available this month for purchase at Amazon and NewEgg for $179.
