"We continue to invest in new capabilities that allow us to exceed our clients' expectations for reliably excellent private jet experiences," said Jim Segrave, founder, LGM Enterprises, parent company of flyExclusive. "flyExclusive is now the only Part 135 charter operator with the ability to paint our own aircraft, while our interior refurbishment capabilities enable us to tailor aircraft cabins to the highest standards of quality and luxury. No other operator in the world is able to exert this level of control over the look and feel of its fleet."

The flyExclusive electrostatic painting and coating facility is the first of its kind in the Southeastern United States. Delivering premium aircraft exterior design services for both flyExclusive and other operators, the facility has been staffed with the best MRO talent in the industry, bringing years of industry and process knowledge. The facility features:

- Two 2,000-square-foot hangars with a full downdraft booth and full filtration systems to minimize emissions
- Climate-controlled conditions with enough hangar space to accommodate a Gulfstream G-IVSP aircraft
- An electrostatic paint process that creates tremendous efficiency in materials, reducing cost and mitigating downtime for faster return to service

The flyExclusive aircraft interior renovation facility is a full custom design shop that offers a broad selection of features, color schemes and carpeting choices, allowing clients to create a fully branded fleet with the exact look and feel they desire.

Recently, flyExclusive broke ground on an additional 45,000-square-foot facility to expand its MRO capabilities for both electrostatic painting and coating and interior refurbishment. With construction expected to be completed in 2022, the new facility will allow for the creation of more than 200 additional jobs as flyExclusive furthers its commitment to economic development in Eastern North Carolina.

flyExclusive is showcasing its MRO capabilities and offerings at the 2021 NBAA Business Aviation Convention & Exhibition (booth #1525) taking place October 12-14, 2021 in Las Vegas.
