Georgia Extends Childcare Contract with MAXIMUS

RESTON, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--

MAXIMUS (NYSE:MMS), a leading provider of health and human services program management solutions, has been awarded a one-year extension of its Georgia Childcare and Parent Services (GA CAPS) contract by the State Department of Human Resources (DHR). The contract extension is valued at $4.1 million. MAXIMUS has been providing these services for more than seven years.

For the GA CAPS project, MAXIMUS provides child care provider management and payment services for an average of 4,800 providers each month in the State's 159 counties. The Company performs outreach to the providers, manages a call center, provides compliance, verification, and documentation support, compiles data for Federal reporting, and processes and issues payments to childcare providers in Georgia. In the 2008-2009 contract year, MAXIMUS will process more than $180 million in payments. This past January marked a milestone achievement for GA CAPS when the project crossed the billion dollar threshold in childcare payments made since the project's inception in 2000.

MAXIMUS CEO, Richard Montoni, said, "Throughout our longstanding partnership with DHR, we have been committed to helping achieve the important goals of improving service delivery, providing more efficient and cost effective processes and services, and reducing payment errors. We appreciate the confidence that Georgia continues to place in us to achieve these shared goals."

MAXIMUS is one of America's leading government services companies devoted to providing program management, consulting and information technology services.
