Maximus Awarded $77 Million Advanced Cybersecurity Services Contract to Support Critical Air Force Cyber Command and Control Systems

New contract expands cybersecurity portfolio within Department of Defense to support operational readiness and continued innovation

TYSONS, Va.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Maximus (NYSE: MMS), a leading employer and provider of government services, today announced it has been awarded a new contract by the United States Air Force Life Cycle Management Center (AFLCMC/HNCJ) Cryptologic and Cyber Systems Division (CCSD) to deliver cybersecurity and cloud-based services. Under this award, valued at $77 million, Maximus will support innovation and operational readiness across the Department of Defense (DoD). The contract period of performance is a base year with four one-year option periods with an optional six-month extension.

As the demand for secure, scalable, and resilient systems increases within the Department of Defense, Maximus will deliver cybersecurity, cloud services, and engineering support across multiple security domains.

“As cyber threats continue to escalate in complexity, the Air Force and the entire Department of Defense need partners who can match the pace of innovation,” said Pamela Powers, Executive Managing Director, Defense and National Security Market, Maximus. “Our team is proud to support the Air Force’s bold approach to delivering mission-based outcomes for the warfighter.”
