Facebook, Inc.'s Petition for Inter Partes Review (IPR) Is Denied

ALEXANDRIA, VA -- September 25, 2014 --Marathon Patent Group, Inc. (NASDAQ: MARA) ("Marathon"), a patent licensing company, announced today that it has acquired TLI Communications LLC., owner of U.S. patent No. 6,038,295 ('295 patent), which is an apparatus and method for recording, communicating and administering digital images.

The patent is currently being asserted against 18 defendants in Eastern District of Virginia, including, but not limited to, Facebook, Google, Twitter, Yahoo, Pinterest, Apple and others. Mishcon de Reya New York LLP is representing TLI in these actions.

On September 15, 2014, the Patent Trial and Appeal Board (PTAB) of the United States Patent and Trademark Office (USPTO) denied a petition for IPR filed by Facebook, Inc. against Marathon's new subsidiary, TLI Communications LLC and its '295 patent.

The PTAB ruled: "Upon consideration of the Petition and Preliminary Response, we determine that Petitioner has not established a reasonable likelihood of prevailing with respect to any of the challenged claims of the '295 patent. Accordingly, we deny the Petition, and decline to institute inter partes review."

"We are pleased with both this acquisition of TLI Communications and the USPTO's decision denying Facebook, Inc.'s IPR petition," said Doug Croxall, Founder and CEO of Marathon Patent Group. "We will continue to seek reasonable royalty payments from those who infringe the '295' patent. It is our hope that the IPR denial will encourage the parties in suit to reach reasonable licensing arrangements with TLI Communications."
