

CYTOKINE STORM SYNDROME
A PREVALENT FACTOR IN COVID-19 MORTALITY
LAST UPDATED: 12/09/20

Cytokine Storm Syndrome is a life-threatening immune response that can be precipitated by a wide-range of infectious and non-infectious conditions. Virus induced Cytokine Storm Syndrome is associated with high mortality across a broad-spectrum of viral infections. During the course of 2020, the Cytokine Storm has been observed to be prevalent in severe COVID-19 infections and is a leading cause of death.
