Arden Launches Heated Cushion Seat and Partners With USA Curling to Support Athletes' Families

In addition to launching the exclusive cushion, the Brand will provide travel support to Cortina for the families of Mixed Doubles Team Korey Dropkin and Cory Thiesse.

DETROIT--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Leading outdoor furnishings brand Arden, part of the Central Garden & Pet Company portfolio, today announced a new partnership with USA Curling aimed at ensuring athletes' families can support their competitors in comfort. The initiative pairs the launch of Arden's newly introduced heated, portable stadium cushions with travel assistance that helps ensure athletes' families can be present to cheer them on in comfort.

In addition to launching the exclusive cushion, Arden, a leading outdoor furnishings brand, will provide travel support to Cortina for the families of Mixed Doubles Team Korey Dropkin and Cory Thiesse.

Recognizing the vital role family support plays in elite competition, Arden's partnership with USA Curling helps bring loved ones closer to life's most meaningful moments while keeping them warm in cold-weather sporting environments. In tribute to curling's deep-rooted spirit of community, Arden will support the families of Team USA athletes Korey Dropkin and Cory Thiesse as they travel to Cortina.

"Competing on the world stage is an incredible honor, and having my family there to cheer me on means everything," said curler Korey Dropkin. "I am so appreciative of our partnership with Arden, their desire to support our families' travel, and keep them warm and comfortable in the stands as they cheer for us on the big stage!"

Through both product innovation and direct family support, Arden aims to deliver both physical comfort and emotional connection, allowing athletes to draw inspiration from the presence of their loved ones in the crowd.

Arden's new heated stadium cushion is designed for families and fans who show up for their athletes through every long match and chilly sideline. Thoughtfully engineered for portability and warmth, the cushion delivers steady comfort so spectators can stay focused on the moment, not the cold.

The patent-pending design includes:

- Foldable, portable construction for easy travel
- USB-powered heating to deliver stadium-ready warmth (power bank not included)
- Patriotic American flag–inspired print and an easy-carry strap
- Durable, fade-resistant, and water-repellent materials
- Dimensions: 17.5" x 17.5" seat with a 17.5" back
- Storage pouch ideal for stadiums, tailgates, or backyard watch parties

“Family and community are fundamental to the sport of curling, and Arden’s support reflects those values beautifully,” said Dean Gemmell, CEO for USA Curling. “By supporting the families of Korey Dropkin and Cory Thiesse, Arden helps ensure their loved ones can be present on the Olympic stage, and we’re grateful for that.”

Since 1964, Arden Companies has been a leading manufacturer and marketer of outdoor cushions and pillows, continuing to innovate products that elevate everyday experiences—on and off the field.

Fans across the country can “sit like a champion” from home by purchasing the cushion for $44.95, available on Amazon. A customized “USA Curling” version can be purchased at www.usacurling.org, where proceeds go to support their mission to grow, strengthen and advocate for Olympic and Paralympic curling in the United States.
