All products in Treehugger’s list were evaluated based on criteria including environmental impact, effectiveness, ease of use, design, and function. The website’s writers and editors

“Our Wee-Wee products provide a worry-free housetraining and waste management experience to help keep pets comfortable and give pet parents peace of mind with a cleaner home and cleaner environment,” said Glen S. Axelrod, President and CEO of Four Paws. “That’s why it’s our ongoing mission and responsibility to continue creating innovative solutions with a focus on sustainability that pet independently research, test, review, and recommend products that are deemed the best.

Wee-Wee Superior Performance Eco Pads combine Earth-friendly materials with the proven dependability that the Four Paws brand has delivered for over 50 years. Featuring a leak-proof liner made of 50% recycled materials, each pad offers absorbent bleach-free & dye-free layers and 24-hour protection for a cleaner home—and a cleaner planet! As with all Wee-Wee branded pads, satisfaction is guaranteed or your money back.

Supporting the Four Paws Earth-friendly mission, these eco-centric pads are made with ethically sourced and sustainable materials. All Wee-Wee branded pads come in smarter, compact packaging to help minimize waste, improve transportation efficiency, and reduce pollution. In addition, Wee-Wee Pads are manufactured in facilities that utilize partial solar energy, partially recycled water, and operational efficiencies to help reduce waste, energy, and emissions.

Wee-Wee Eco Pads are available at select in-store retailers and online at Amazon, Petco, Chewy, and Walmart.com.
