USANA has two major manufacturing facilities on its campus in Salt Lake City that produce the majority of its products for 23 global markets. High-speed tablet presses are among the most impressive machines on USANA's line. Two of these seven machines can produce anywhere from 60,000 to 500,000 USANA nutritional supplement tablets per hour while meeting stringent quality specifications.

A new 43,000-square-foot facility has added food and energy products to USANA manufacturing capabilities. The facility can make 300 bars per minute, fill and seal 25 gussets of powder per minute, and package 60 single-serve pouches of powder in 60 seconds.

USANA is an FDA register facility and is GMP certified by USP and NSF. Multiple USANA products have been certified by third-party assessor ConsumerLab.com over the years.

"It's our commitment to excellence that has led us to receive this award," says Walter Noot, USANA's chief operating officer. "Our manufacturing and operations team works incredibly hard to make sure USANA puts out the best products possible. This award is a true reflection of their hard work. From those on the line to our shipping, quality, maintenance, and purchasing and planning teams, I would like to thank them and congratulate them on this award."
