Second Stem Cell Expert from Harvard's Dana-Farber Cancer Institute Joins Cryo-Cell International

Wayne Green, Ph.D. is heading up flow cytometry.

OLDSMAR, Fla., Nov. 13, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- Cryo-Cell International (OTC:QB Markets Group Symbol: CCEL) announced the appointment of Wayne Green, Ph.D., as director of flow cytometry. Dr. Green is responsible for overseeing the highly specialized method for analyzing and sorting blood cells in Cryo-Cell's state-of-the art laboratory. Flow cytometry studies enable the lab to separate stem cells from other blood cells in umbilical cord and menstrual specimens.

Dr. Green joined Cryo-Cell from the Dana-Farber Cancer Institute at Harvard, where he held the same position. He is working under the direction of Chief Scientific Officer Linda Kelley, Ph.D., with whom he worked at Dana-Farber.

Dr. Green earned graduate degrees in microbiology and immunology at Wake Forest University and an undergraduate degree at Bucknell University. With more than 30 years of experience, Dr. Green is an accomplished scientist, educator, researcher and author, and active member of the International Society for Advancement of Cytometry and International Society for Cellular Therapy. During his distinguished career, he has served on a number of scientific committees that advance the boundaries of science.

"The addition of Dr. Green to our stem cell laboratory team is a tremendous coup for the company. His appointment is representative of our ongoing efforts to elevate the quality of our services and ensure that we provide clients with the best possible stem cell specimens," said Chairman of the Board David Portnoy.
