Now in its fourth year, the Workforce Game Changers award competition is designed to recognize the next generation of workplace leaders, under the age of 40, who have made a significant impact on the HR function. Nominees were considered based on their professional accomplishments and personal achievements, and the winners were selected by the senior writers and editors of Workforce.

"As the leader of the Equifax Workforce Analytics product, Kristin is a central player in the future of all of HR," said John Sumser, CEO of HRExaminer. "As she navigates the evolving product landscape, she's discovering the metrics and ideas that will govern HR for the next generation."

She also was instrumental in the creation of the company's Workforce Insights resource, which provides employers and the larger HR community with real-time access to important labor and employment trends.

Well regarded as an industry thought-leader in a variety of forums related to employer ACA compliance requirements and workforce analytics, Lewis continues to develop new solutions that will change the way employers interact with their workforces and market data. She also shares her unique insight as a contributor to numerous industry publications and is an in-demand speaker at conferences throughout the year.

"Kristin's contributions to our company have been immense, helping us create new products that facilitate key workforce processes," said Anir Pradhan, senior vice president of Marketing for Equifax Workforce Solutions. "It is quite an honor to be recognized as a 2014 Game Changer by Workforce magazine and to be highlighted for my contributions to the HR space," said Lewis.
