ResMed Completes Acquisition of Curative Medical, a Leader in Sleep-Disordered Breathing and Respiratory Care Medical Devices

- ResMed and Curative are now the combined market leader in sleep-disordered breathing and respiratory care in China
- New partnership focuses on improving patient quality of life and reducing total healthcare system costs in China

SAN DIEGO, Oct. 7, 2015 /PRNewswire/ -- ResMed (NYSE:RMD) today announced it has completed the previously announced acquisition of Curative Medical, a leading provider of non-invasive ventilation and sleep-disordered breathing medical devices and accessories.

"By joining forces with Curative Medical we expand our combined reach in the growing respiratory medical device market in China," said Mick Farrell, CEO of ResMed. "Together we will focus on improving patient quality of life while reducing the cost of care for sleep-disordered breathing and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease."

ResMed China and Curative Medical will remain operationally independent, and Curative will continue to invest in R&D, manufacturing, marketing and sales teams in China. Curative will keep its name, brands, and innovative offerings tailored for the Chinese market and other global markets, and will be strategically positioned to target different customer segments than ResMed. Curative employees, including the founder and chief executive officer, Jason Sun, will continue as employees of the combined ResMed and Curative team.

Financial terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

Ongoing Support

Curative Medical will continue to support its products through its existing sales team and distribution network.
