Telephonics Announces Leadership Reorganization

FARMINGDALE, N.Y.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Telephonics Corporation, a wholly owned subsidiary of Griffon Corporation (NYSE:GFF), announced today that Kevin McSweeney has been named Chief Operating Officer of Telephonics, a new position reporting directly to Joseph J. Battaglia, President and Chief Executive Officer of Telephonics. This is part of a reorganization of Telephonics' leadership team that has been undertaken to better facilitate planned growth and business development. Telephonics is a leading global designer, developer and manufacturer of high-technology, integrated information, communication and sensor system solutions for use in military and commercial markets.

Mr. McSweeney has been with Telephonics since 2004 with direct responsibility for management of the Company's Radar Systems Division. Under his leadership, revenue for radar systems has doubled and the Company has made significant progress in a variety of key technologies, including Identification Friend or Foe systems and the US Navy's Multi-Mode Radar system.

Mr. Battaglia commented, "Kevin has demonstrated outstanding leadership abilities. We are confident that he will prove capable of further expanding our global business and enhancing our position in the marketplace for both commercial and military applications in a variety of product categories. These changes in management structure will support our growth and allow us to better serve our customers."

Mr. McSweeney will have direct oversight responsibility for Radar Systems, Communications and Integrated Systems, Systems Engineering and Business Development. Telephonics is also pleased to announce the promotion of Gary Fortmeyer to the position of Vice President and General Manager of the Radar Systems Division. Mr. Fortmeyer will report directly to Mr. McSweeney.

Telephonics has initiated a search for a Vice President and General Manager of the Communications and Integrated Systems division. In the interim, Mr. McSweeney will have direct management responsibility for this business.
