Boardwalktech Joins the Microsoft Azure Marketplace

Palo Alto, California – November 16, 2015

Boardwalktech, Inc., the leading provider of spreadsheet data management technology for the enterprise and developer of the patented Boardwalk Application Engine (BAE), in collaboration with Microsoft's Azure Global ISV team, announced today that its next generation information sharing for Excel Data spreadsheet is now a certified solution being offered within the Azure Marketplace.

Azure Marketplace is an online applications and services marketplace that enables application producers to offer their solutions to Azure customers around the world. Through collaboration with Microsoft, Boardwalktech now offers its cell-based data management system which connects multiple data environments across devices ranging from desktops, mobile, and web environments.

Boardwalktech's presence in Azure Marketplace makes it easy for enterprise customers to work with large data sets in the cloud and make use of the power of spreadsheet applications by bringing useful data slices to the spreadsheet application with secure access control and collaboration. Further, Boardwalk automates spreadsheet data and file consolidation, eliminates email exchanges, and provides access control and an audit trail for cell-level data.

"As a global leader in enterprise spreadsheet data management, Boardwalktech is committed to enabling enterprise customers seamlessly license their software in the environments demanded by their customers - such as Azure," said Andrew T. Duncan, President and CEO of Boardwalktech. "With our solution easily accessible in the Azure Marketplace, enterprise customers can now more easily deploy enterprise quality spreadsheet-based applications."

About Boardwalktech:
