Boardwalktech and PES University Announce Joint Blockchain Research

CUPERTINO, CA, Sept. 20, 2018 /CNW/ - (TSXV:BWLK) - Boardwalktech Software Corp. ("Boardwalktech"), a leading enterprise blockchain software company, is pleased to announced that PES University ("PES"), one of India's leading teaching and research universities located in Bangalore, has partnered with Boardwalktech to work with students from undergraduate, masters and PhD programs to conduct research in blockchain technology for enterprise processes and information management.

During the initial phase of this partnership program, the Boardwalktech R&D group, Boardwalk Labs, is teaching an undergraduate course on "Design of Blockchain Systems from Boardwalk" to a group of over 40 students focused on training and research on the Boardwalk Enterprise Blockchain information management platform. Boardwalk Labs vision is to conduct and support, through partnerships with universities like PES, pathbreaking fundamental blockchain research to leverage transaction chaining, alignment and inferences for strategic activities across the extended enterprise. Boardwalk Labs approach is to bring together a multidisciplinary thinking into the field of information management which includes academia.

"Boardwalktech is excited to tap into the creativity and energy of academic resources to continue moving the technology of the software industry forward," said Ravi Krishnan, CTO Boardwalk Labs. "Our goal is to inspire the industry to a higher standard of technological excellence and to ensure that ideas generated out of industry are given full academic treatment."

"We are excited to participate in core research in the Blockchain space and build on our foundation of academic and research excellence," said Ajoy Kumar COO, PES University. "Our research and PhD programs have been built over the years for academic-industry collaboration and our disciplines in Computer and Data Sciences, Security and Cryptography, Distributed Systems will contribute and be well served by this partnership."
