Jones, 56, is a former senior vice president and corporate controller of Kraft Foods Inc. and then Mondelez International, the company formed by Kraft's split into two domestic and international publicly-traded corporations. She also had a long career at Chrysler, where she served in a variety of leadership positions including corporate controller. She was named to the list of "25 Women to Watch" by CFO Magazine and to the "75 Most Powerful Women in Business" by Black Enterprise Magazine.

"We were looking for candidates with the international experience and financial acumen needed to guide our company through its continuing expansion and growth, and Kim was a perfect fit," TrueBlue Chairman Joe Sambataro said. "Her recognition as one of the leading women executives in America is well deserved, and we look forward to bringing her vision and skills to the board."

Jones is joining a company that has grown in the past several years to become one of the world's leading suppliers of workforce solutions, including specialized staffing, onsite workforce management, and recruitment process outsourcing. TrueBlue reported record revenue of $2.7 billion in 2015.
