PORTLAND, Ore., April 26, 2007 (PRIME NEWSWIRE) -- Columbia Sportswear Company (Nasdaq:COLM), a global leader in the active outdoor apparel and footwear industries, today announced first quarter net sales of $289.6 million for the quarter ended March 31, 2007, an increase of 11.3 percent compared to net sales of $260.2 million for the same period of 2006. Net income for the first quarter was $26.1 million, a 33.8 percent increase compared to net income of $19.5 million for the same period of 2006. Earnings per share for the first quarter of 2007 were $0.71 (diluted) on 36.6 million weighted average shares, compared to earnings per share of $0.52 (diluted) for the first quarter of 2006 on 37.3 million weighted average shares.

Compared to the first quarter of 2006, Other International sales increased 30.9 percent to $54.2 million, U.S. sales increased 7.7 percent to $155.5 million, European sales increased 12.7 percent to $54.1 million, and Canadian sales decreased 2.3 percent to $25.8 million for the first quarter of 2007.

Excluding changes in currency exchange rates, consolidated net sales increased 9.6 percent, Other International sales increased 30.4 percent, U.S. sales increased 7.7 percent, European sales increased 2.7 percent, and Canadian sales remained essentially flat for the first quarter of 2007, compared to the same period of 2006 (see "Reconciliation of Net Sales Changes to Net Sales Changes Excluding Changes in Currency Exchange Rates" table below).

For the first quarter of 2007, sportswear sales increased 15.0 percent to $163.1 million, outerwear sales increased 8.3 percent to $59.8 million, footwear sales increased 4.3

percent to $52.9 million and accessories and equipment sales increased 10.4 percent to $13.8 million, compared to the first quarter of 2006.

Tim Boyle, Columbia's president and chief executive officer, commented, "Our record first quarter results reflect the continued strong demand for our sportswear category. Sportswear sales increased in all direct and distributor markets globally, led by continued strong sportswear sales growth domestically. The strong net sales growth combined with expanding gross and operating margins drove exceptional growth in net earnings for the first quarter. We are pleased with the continued strength of our spring business."

Backlog

The Company reported that as of March 31, 2007, consolidated fall and spring order backlog increased 4.7 percent to $888.7 million compared to consolidated fall and spring order backlog of $848.9 million at March 31, 2006. Of this total, fall order backlog at March 31, 2007 was $742.1 million, a 3.0 percent increase over fall order backlog of $720.7 million at March 31, 2006. Excluding changes in currency exchange rates, consolidated fall and spring order backlog increased 3.2 percent, and fall order backlog increased 1.6 percent, compared to the prior year.

Boyle continued, "Fall orders increased 3.0 percent at March 31, 2007, primarily due to continued strength in U.S. sportswear orders and exceptional growth in International Distributor sportswear orders. Global sportswear orders increased double-digits and growth in the category continues to reduce our dependency on cold weather conditions for customer orders and retail sales of our products. Orders for cold weather footwear and outerwear were negatively affected by extended periods of above average temperatures and lack of precipitation in many markets last fall and winter, but most specifically in Western Europe, where orders in all product categories decreased substantially. Global footwear orders decreased slightly, primarily due to decreases in orders for cold weather footwear. Global outerwear orders were essentially flat; however, we are pleased to report that U.S. orders of Columbia brand outerwear increased double digits, despite the warm weather conditions in the U.S. last fall, reflecting our continuing efforts to re-merchandise our core Columbia outerwear line. U.S. Pacific Trail outerwear orders declined substantially due to pockets of poor sell-through of fall 2006 products, an unappealing fall 2007 outerwear product line, and challenges integrating sales operations."

"Overall, weather had a negative impact on our total fall season orders, particularly in Western Europe and for cold weather footwear. We are very pleased, however, with the progress we have made to improve profitability. We anticipate that gross and operating margins will expand throughout 2007, despite the effect of warm weather on projected net sales and significant incremental increases in depreciation and amortization anticipated this year. Our designers and merchants continue to develop apparel and footwear products that are less weather sensitive and have longer retail sales windows. These efforts will help us maintain our retail market position year-round and reduce the weather dependency of our fall season products," commented Boyle.

Dividend

The Company announced today that the board of directors has approved a dividend of $0.14 per share, payable on May 31, 2007 to shareholders of record on May 17, 2007.

Guidance

Mr. Boyle continued, "Considering the backlog we released today, we currently anticipate second quarter 2007 revenue growth of approximately 6 percent and diluted earnings per share of approximately $0.18. For the full year 2007, we anticipate net sales growth of approximately 5 percent, and diluted earnings per share of approximately $3.65. These projections are forward-looking in nature, and are based on backlog and forecasts, which may change, perhaps significantly."

This press release contains forward-looking statements, including Mr. Boyle's statements regarding anticipated revenues and earnings for the second quarter and full year 2007 and growth in future periods. Actual results could differ materially from those projected in these and other forward-looking statements as a result of a number of risks and uncertainties, including those set forth in this press release, those described in the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006, under the heading "Risk Factors," and other risks and uncertainties that have been or may be described from time to time in other reports filed by the Company, including reports on Form 8-K, Form 10-Q, and Form 10-K. Risk factors that may affect our future revenues, earnings and performance include international risks, including changes in quotas and tariffs or other duties, political instability in foreign markets, exchange rate fluctuations, and trade disruptions; our ability to attract and retain key employees; unfavorable economic conditions generally and weakness in consumer confidence; the financial health of our customers; our ability to effectively deliver our products to customers in a timely manner; our reliance on product acceptance by consumers; the effects of unseasonable weather (including, for example, warm weather in the winter and cold weather in the spring, which affects demand for the Company's products); our ability to integrate and manage acquired businesses; our dependence on independent manufacturers and suppliers; the effectiveness of our sales and marketing efforts; intense competition in the industry (which we expect to increase); business disruptions and acts of terrorism or military activities around the globe; the effective implementation and expansion of our distribution facilities; the operations of our computer systems and third party computer systems; and our ability to establish and protect our intellectual property. Although forward-looking statements help provide complete information about the Company, please keep in mind that forward-looking statements are inherently less reliable than historical information. We do not undertake any duty to update any of the forward-looking statements after the date of this release to conform them to actual results or to changes in our expectations.

Reconciliation of Net Sales Changes to Net Sales Changes Excluding Changes in Currency Exchange Rates

Net sales from year to year are affected by changes in selling prices and unit volume as well as changes in currency exchange rates where we have sales in foreign locations. The Company's net sales changes excluding the effect of changes in currency exchange rates are presented below. The Company discloses changes in sales excluding changes in currency exchange rates because it uses the measure to understand sales growth excluding any impact from foreign currency exchange rate changes. In addition, the Company's foreign management teams are generally evaluated and compensated in part based on the results of operations excluding currency exchange rate changes for their respective regions. Amounts calculated in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, or GAAP, are denoted.
