

Weave Named a Great Place to Work for the Fourth Year in a Row

Based on employee feedback, Weave is recognized yet again for workplace excellence

LEHI, Utah--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Weave, the all-in-one customer communication and engagement platform for small business, has been certified as a Great Place to Work for the fourth year in a row. This certification, powered through Emprising, is based entirely on current employee feedback on Weave's culture, outlook, and career opportunities.

"We are thrilled to be certified as a Great Place to Work for the fourth year in a row," said Brett White, Interim CEO of Weave. "This certification is proof that putting people first not only works but is essential to creating a culture of inclusion and acceptance. Our team is dedicated to listening to our people and then promptly acting. I couldn't be more proud to work with dedicated team members who are focused on fostering and growing an inspiring culture."

In addition to a focus on company values and culture, innovative ways to drive employee recognition, and new benefits like mental health support, Weave recently took a new approach to launching traditional Employee Resource Groups. Weave's People Resource Groups (PRGs) double down on its People First culture, reflected partly by the program's unique name. Led by team members and coached by executive sponsors, Weave's eight PRGs join together people who share a common identity or life experiences and those who want to provide support as allies.

With recent recognition on the 2022 Shatter List by the Women Tech Council, the Top 50 Most Inspiring Companies in North America, and the 2022 Top Workplaces, Weave is passionate about bringing people together and providing them with great benefits, flexible work, and nurturing culture.
