SEI's Al Chiaradonna Receives Temple University's Accounting Achievement Award

OAKS, Pa., May 2, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- SEI (NASDAQ: SEIC) today announced that Al Chiaradonna, Senior Vice President of Private Banking, received the "Corporate Award" at Temple University's Fox School of Business' third annual Accounting Achievement Awards. Recognizing Temple University alumni for their achievements, the Fox School of Business' Department of Accounting acknowledges the impact accounting professionals make on the business community and region, while raising funds in support of student scholarships for the next generation of accounting professionals.

"It is great to see Al Chiaradonna recognized for the contributions he's made not only to our company, but to Philadelphia's business and academic communities," said Dennis McGonigle, Chief Financial Officer at SEI. "His passion for learning is evident here at SEI and through his commitment to higher education as both a supporter and an educator."

"Our mission at Temple University's Fox School of Business is to empower students to become innovators and leaders in their industry and in their community," says Ronald Anderson, interim dean of the Fox School of Business and School of Sport, Tourism and Hospitality Management. "Al Chiaradonna of SEI is a motivator and a leader, and like all of our awardees, he is an example of how a quality business education for one person can positively impact the lives of many."
