"Yale West is a newly constructed, Class A, apartment property in the vibrant Mount Vernon Triangle neighborhood just two blocks from the Washington D.C. convention center metro stop. This asset aligns well with our stated residential strategy to purchase newer properties in dense, in-fill locations with strong demographics," said Paul T. McDermott, President and Chief Executive Officer of WRIT. "The transaction exemplifies what our investors should expect from us – creative and dynamic executions that will distinguish us in this competitive marketplace."

Built in 2011, Yale West is a twelve-story building with a three-level parking garage, located at 443 New York Avenue, NW in Washington's East End. The Property is two blocks from the Mount Vernon Square – Convention Center Metro Station (Green and Yellow Lines) and is situated in close proximity to the amenity rich East End, Central Business District and Capitol Hill workplaces. Yale West is currently 91% occupied.

WRIT assumed a $48.2 million 5.55% mortgage maturing on January 1, 2052 with optional prepayment ability beginning January 1, 2015. The balance of the purchase price was funded with available proceeds from the recent medical office portfolio sale.
