Mr. Michael Connaway will be joining Helios Technologies as Chief Financial Officer in October 2025.

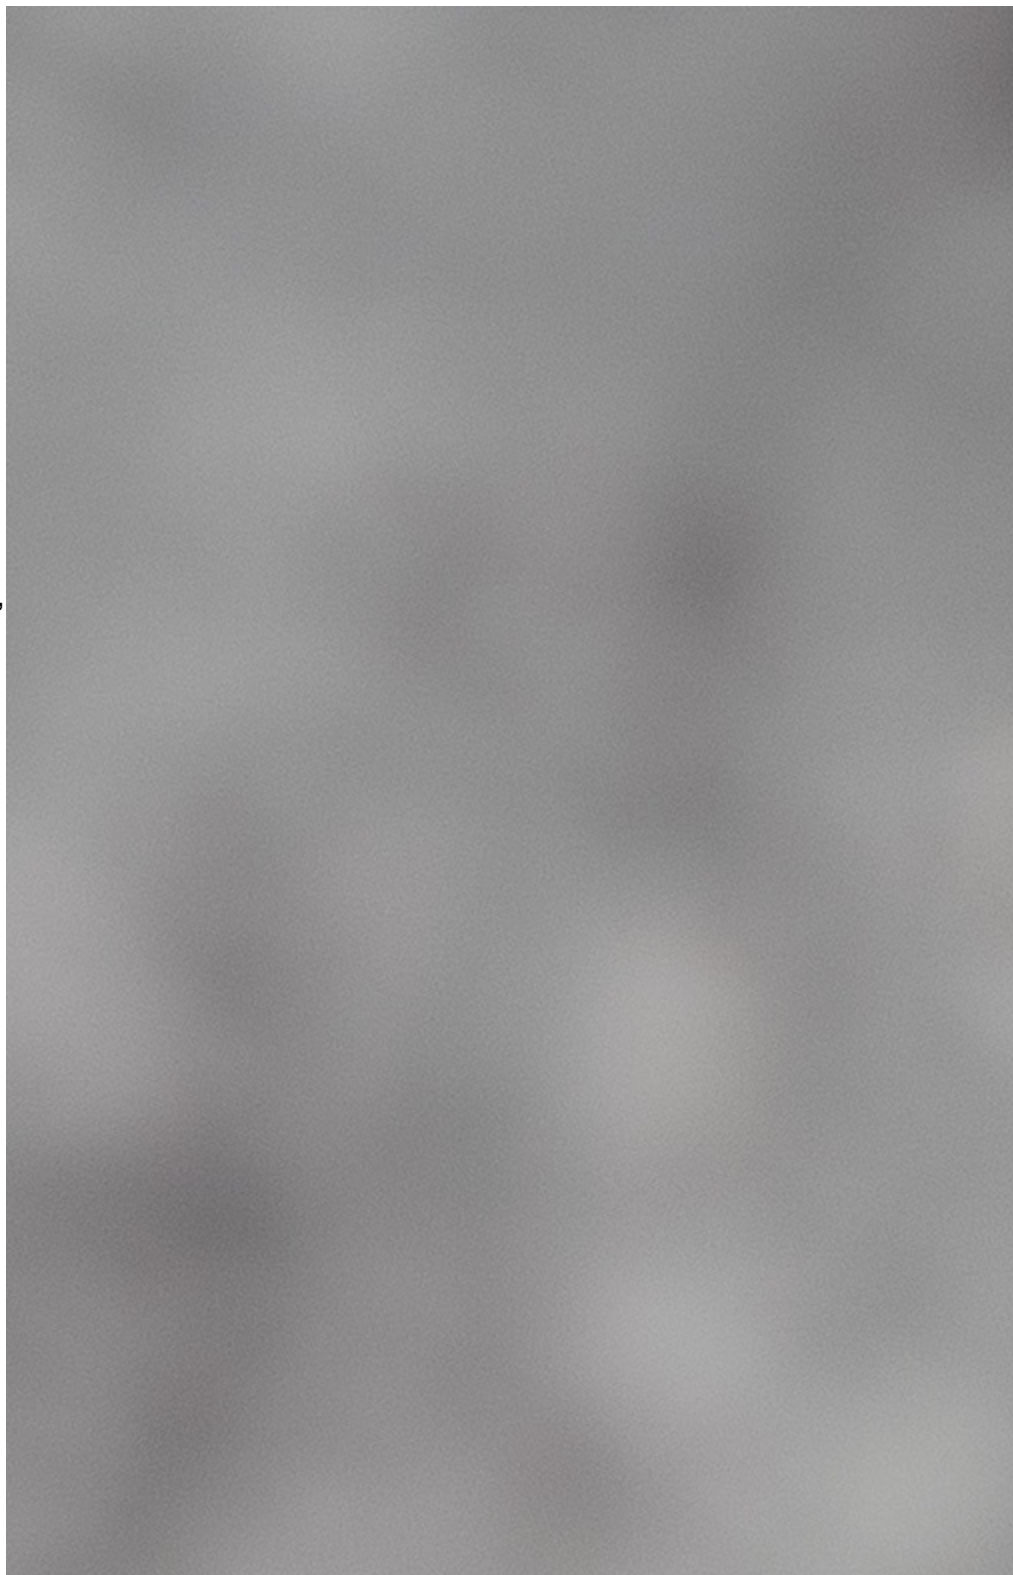

"As we focus on building a world-class leadership team, I am pleased to announce these executive leadership appointments, which underscore Helios' ability to attract top-tier talent while also recognizing the exceptional contributions of our existing team," said Sean Bagan, President, CEO, and CFO of Helios. "Michael brings more than two decades of financial and operational expertise, including public company CFO experience, which will be instrumental as we execute our long-term strategy. Jeremy has already made a significant impact since joining Helios in 2024, following a 25-year career at a Fortune 100 company based in Florida. His promotion reflects both his accomplishments and our confidence in his leadership. Together, they will strengthen our financial foundation and help drive sustainable growth and value creation for all stakeholders."

Since May 2024, Mr. Connaway has served as CFO for Aviat Networks, Inc. (NASDAQ: AVNW), a provider of wireless transport and access solutions. His career spans 23 years with leading global companies, having started out with General Electric ("GE"). He spent 16 years at GE with his final role as Head of Global Financial Planning & Analysis for its Industrial Solutions business, which was acquired by ABB in 2018. Mr. Connaway spent 16 months as the CFO for ABB's $2.6 billion Industrial Solutions business. After ABB, Mr. Connaway joined Honeywell where he spent over three years in divisional and segment CFO capacities, culminating as CFO of Honeywell's Energy & Sustainability Solutions segment, a $7 billion global technology, manufacturing, and services leader. Mr. Connaway holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Finance from Boston College.

"I'm excited to join Helios and collaborate with Sean, the leadership team, and the global team to provide strategic financial planning while improving operational productivity through process evaluation and automation that sets Helios apart from competitors. My goal is to draw from my past experiences at leading industrial technology companies to enhance Helios' strong market positions resulting in profitable sales growth through disciplined cost management and consistently adding value for our shareholders," commented Mr. Connaway.

Mr. Evans joined the Company on January 24, 2024, and since that time has driven process improvement, streamlined financial reporting, and navigated complex accounting topics, all while maintaining timely and accurate financial records and a robust internal control environment. Prior to joining Helios, Mr. Evans accumulated 25 years of progressive operational and financial management leadership experience with Tech Data, now TD SYNNEX Corporation (NYSE: SNX) serving as Vice President, Accounting Transformation immediately prior to joining Helios. He earned his Bachelor of Arts degree with a double major in Math and Spanish from Eckerd College, received a Master of Business Administration from the University of Sarasota, and received a Certified Public Accountant (CPA) license from the state of Florida.

"I am extremely grateful for the opportunity to work alongside Sean, Michael and the other accomplished leaders within Helios to continue shaping the future of the Company. Since joining Helios, I've seen firsthand the capabilities that our teams have to develop innovative products and create solutions for our customers. Those capabilities, along with solid financial discipline, have positioned us well to drive profitable growth over the long-term. I am excited to be part of that growth and to lead an accounting organization filled with talented professionals," commented Mr. Evans.
