Commentary- Cheryl Beranek, President & CEO of Clearfield

"Our revenue gains continue to be a positive indicator of the acceptance of our product line within our target markets," comments Cheryl Beranek, president and CEO of Clearfield. "We typically see some seasonal weakness in our winter quarters due to customer budget cycles and winter-build challenges, but our continued growth over the same period last year is within our targets for the quarter. We continue to increase our investment in sales, marketing and product development initiatives while enhancing our net income position."

"While low in relationship to historical figures, our backlog numbers are consistent with our expectations. The long-lead times and limited availability of fiber has resulted in some customers shying away from the placement of blanket or project orders with any supplier outside of their long-haul fiber vendors," Beranek continues.

"Stimulus-based activity continues to contribute revenue on a small scale with projects targeted for a ramp-up in the summer-build season. In addition to our FTTp market development projects, our work associated with the development of business class services in the cable-television markets as well as providing cell-backhaul connectivity for the community servicing the wireless broadband providers, is continuing to take root.

"Over the past months, we have been able to bring a number of new products to market. I am especially pleased that Clearfield has been able to extend our product lines as well as develop new markets while enhancing our year-over-year gross profit position. Moving forward, we are continuing to invest in new product technologies that will be introduced in the months and quarters ahead."
