

Global Eagle and Zinio Announce Agreement to Bring Digital Magazines to Aircraft Globally

Zinio Adds 3,000+ Magazine Titles to GEE's Content Platform

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30, 2015 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) --Global Eagle Entertainment Inc. ("GEE") (Nasdaq:ENT), a worldwide provider of aircraft connectivity systems, operations solutions and media content to the travel industry, and Zinio, a multichannel magazine content distributor, today announced a new agreement aimed at satisfying airline passengers' voracious appetite for inflight reading.

As part of the deal, Zinio is adding more than 3,000 global magazine titles in over 50 languages to the GEE catalog of over 7,000 digital books and newspapers. The content is available in tailored regional and route-specific lineups, based on passenger preferences and destinations, on airline seatback systems via GEE's AIRREAD service or on passenger smartphones and tablets through the GEE AIRTIME portal.

Reading is a favorite inflight pastime among airline passengers.¹ The GEE-Zinio alliance makes carry-on reading materials a thing of the past, with easy access to digital reading content. Zinio's inflight entertainment licensing agreement adds the world's largest digital newsstand to the GEE content library and puts the most popular magazine titles, such as Cosmopolitan, Forbes, Esquire, Condé Nast Traveler and National Geographic at the fingertips of millions of airline passengers.

"Zinio is very proud to be partnering with Global Eagle Entertainment to bring an unmatched selection of digital magazines to airline passengers around the world," said Joan Solà, Zinio EVP Chief Global Markets. "Digital magazines, integrated with GEE's leading IFE services, will offer new and exciting opportunities, including access to a greater selection of the best content for passengers and new content distribution models for airlines and publishers."

"Global Eagle Entertainment delivers 500,000 content titles in 50 languages to more than 150 airlines worldwide every year, and the addition of Zinio's impressive digital magazine newsstand further positions GEE as the go-to inflight content provider to the airline and travel industry," noted Walé Adepoju, Chief Commercial Officer for Global Eagle Entertainment. "Inflight reading is increasingly a cornerstone of GEE's business and commitment to delivering the best airline passenger experience possible."
