Hospitality and Retail Each Saw Over 1 Million Job Postings in Q1 2022: New Report by Staffing Giant PeopleReady

U.S. median hourly wage up 5.5% year over year, according to new report

TACOMA, Wash., May 9, 2022 /PRNewswire/ -- The labor shortage brought on by Covid-19 has extended well into 2022, leaving many employers scrambling to fill open positions. Hospitality and retail — two sectors that have been hit especially hard during the pandemic — both saw over 1 million new job postings during the first quarter of 2022, according to a new report from staffing giant PeopleReady.

PeopleReady's U.S. Workforce Trends Quarterly Report explores the latest job and wage growth trends throughout the U.S., with timely data that provides valuable insight about employment in several major industries. The report also features recommendations on how today's employers can overcome their recruitment challenges.

Demand for workers, based on job postings, remains high in virtually every sector. The number of job postings for select sectors during Q1 2022, according to the PeopleReady report:

- Hospitality: 1,619,000 job postings
- Retail: 1,061,000
- Manufacturing: 802,000
- Construction: 364,000
- Building and grounds cleaning/maintenance: 275,000
- Utilities: 40,000

With 5 million more job openings in the U.S. than the number of available workers, employers are increasing wages to attract and retain new hires. The U.S. median hourly wage for Q1 2022 was $31.76, a 5.5% increase year over year, the report notes.

"Even with the economy hovering just above full employment, job growth continues at a rapid pace. In response to the labor shortage, employers across the country are looking to remain competitive and explore new ways to grow their pool of potential candidates," said Taryn Owen, president and COO of PeopleReady and PeopleScout. "With so many jobs unfilled across so many major industries, PeopleReady is committed to connecting employers with job seekers in their local communities."
