Huntington Signs Contract with InfoAccess.net to Help Small-to Medium-Sized International Companies Manage Their Global Supply Chains

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 11 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- Huntington Bancshares' International Services Group has signed a contract with InfoAccess.net to help companies manage their global supply chains.

InfoAccess.net is a global provider of "Order-to-Pay Service" with more than 2,500 customers in 20 different countries. "Our service helps companies exchange business documents, such as purchase orders and invoices in the electronic format they desire. Reducing the number of paper documents in the receivables and payables process eliminates unnecessary expense, makes reconciliation easier and reduces errors," said Daniel L. Andrew, President of InfoAccess.net.

"Electronic supply chain communication provides tremendous potential for increases in business efficiency," said Tony Huckleby, who leads Huntington's international business. "At Huntington, we are committed to providing the tools our customers need to attain those efficiencies, regardless of the size of the company involved. The InfoAccess offering provides a great addition to Huntington's existing international payment solutions and opens new possibilities for global supply chain financing."
